Marianne Larochelle started playing with photography as a teenager, self taught in processing film and building her own darkroom at age 15.

She then studied photography in San Francisco, where she started a female collective of photographers and published a art/documentary book on the drag queen scene of San Francisco.

After working as a commercial photographer for over 10 yrs in Montreal while still pursuing her personal art projects , she is now fully dedicating her energy into her personal art projects.

All of her images are made within the camera, using diverse techniques of painting with light, multiple exposures and long exposures to capture simultaneous moments in time and unveil mystery right before our eyes....

Her studies and curiosity led her to explore the dream world , Tarot, Mythology, symbols and how to weave it all into her image making .
